DOMESTIC EDUCATION.—It has been announced in our advertising columns that Mrs. Willard proposes to receive a limited number of young girls into her family as boarders and to give them the advantages of a private home education which are enjoyed by her own children of a similar age. Her arrangements, we understand, contemplate not only a thorough course of instruction in the branches usually studied at the highest schools, but a general, maternal oversight of the pupils at every stage of mental progress, adapting the influence of the household and the classroom to the character of each individual, and aiming at the cultivation of polished manners and graceful expression in connection with noble sentiments and pure moral principles. The beautiful domain of Idlewild, in the midst of a healthy and charming rural locality, with the intellectual benefits of the plan proposed by the estimable lady whose name has been already mentioned, offers inducements to parents in search of a place of education for their young daughters, which are rarely met with in our community.

SELLING SOLDIERS AS SUBSTITUTES.—Officer O'Rourke, attached to Col. Nugent's office, yesterday arrested John Dine, Henry Wilson, and James H. Sevon, United States volunteers, on charges of desertion. They state that a Lieutenant in the 11th Regiment, of which they were members, made arrangements with them to dispose of them as substitutes, and having received the bounties, they were to make their escape. The officer was to receive $100 of the $300 from each. They were sent to Baker's Island, and will be court-martialed for desertion.

THE NINTH WARD SCHOOL DIFFICULTY.—It will be remembered that, some time ago, a Miss McGowan was dismissed from one of the public schools of the Ninth Ward for refusing to unite in the chorus of a song in which were the words "God is marching on," on the ground that it was sacrilegious. The matter was referred to the Board of Education, some of the members of which disapproved the action of the local Board, and requested them to reinstate Miss McGowan. The Board of Education, after having deliberated on the premises, gave no heed to the action of the local Board, whereupon the father of the girl applied to the Supreme Court to compel the Trustees to reinstate his daughter. Justice Clarke having fully examined the matter, denied the action for a mandamus, and Miss McGowan still stands expelled from the school.

An organization having been perfected, Alderman Farley, Councilmen McConnell and Murray were appointed a Committee on Invitation; Alderman Hall, Councilmen Keenan and Murray on General Business; the Chair being added to both Committees. After some discussion, it was informally resolved to accept the following programme: 1. A reception at the Governor's Room, at which the general public will be invited to meet their distinguished guests; 2. A visit to the public institutions, High Bridge, &c. 3. A grand banquet at some one of the principal hotels, to be hereafter selected. Mr. Webb, the ship-builder, was introduced, and stated that in conversation with the Russian Minister, Baron De Stoeckel, the latter had expressed himself gratified at the announcement of the City's intention to give the naval officers of his country a public reception. The Baron thought the arrangements that the Committee would make would be very gratifying to the officers, and certainly would be to him. The Committee held another meeting in the afternoon, for the purpose of perfecting their arrangements, which will in due time be announced.

He left thirteen children, nine sons and four daughters, who are still living at the average age of 42 years. These, with their wives and children, comprise a company of 93, were all present, while other relatives, among them the Hon. R. P. Andrews, Surveyor of the Port of New York, participating in the festival, increased the number to upward of 100. No less than seven of the sons are in the learned professions, five of them being physicians, of whom three are practitioners in this city, as will be seen by the following statement in reference to the "original thirteen": The eldest, E.
